LEARNING, TEACHING AND ASSESSMENT INFORMATION

6a. Module Description

This module will introduce you to the work of Elizabeth Gaskell and the Brontë sisters and to literary and cinematic adaptations of their fiction. You will begin by reading Gaskell's The Life of Charlotte Brontë alongside Lucasta Miller's The Brontë Myth and by assessing the way in which the 'Brontë myth' has been sustained by different generations of readers.

The second part of the module will include a detailed survey of the diverse literary outputs of Gaskell and the Brontës. Through this, there will be a focus on the ways in which the four writers engage with their cultural contexts. In addition to thinking about the issues involved in debates about religion, education, social change, gender and familial and romantic relationships, you will be asked to consider the novels through the lens of disability theory and to assess their treatment of Imperialism and Empire.

The final part of the module will involve an introduction to theories of adaptation and to rewritings and cinematic adaptations of Charlotte Brontë's Jane Eyre, Emily Brontë's Wuthering Heights and Elizabeth Gaskell's North and South.

6b. Outline Content

- An introduction to the aims and objectives of the module
- Analysis and discussion of life-writing, biography and the 'Bronte Myth'
- Analysis and discussion of the novels, shorter fiction and non-fiction of Elizabeth Gaskell
- Analysis and discussion of the juvenilia, poetry and novels of Charlotte, Emily and Anne Bronte
- Analysis and discussion of literary and cinematic adaptations of the novels
- Critical reflection on what has been learned, summative work and preparation for the formative assessments
