LEARNING, TEACHING AND ASSESSMENT INFORMATION

6a. Module Description

The Undergraduate Major Project is the culmination of your degree – it gives you a chance to demonstrate all you have learned. This project module is very different from other modules. Although you are supervised, the onus is on you to identify the research question and generate aims, objectives, and hypotheses. You'll conduct your research under the guidance of your supervisor, who will support you generate and analyse data to communicate scientifically both in writing and verbally.

You'll engage in a substantial piece of individual research that will focus on a topic relevant to your course, which follows on the research proposal and ethics application developed for the Research Methods module. The project may be in the form of primary research (e.g. laboratory, population studies, generating questionnaire-based data, or other relevant acceptable research). The chosen topic will require you to apply your subject knowledge and suitable methodologies and demonstrate your problem-solving skills through creative and innovative thinking. You'll have regular meetings with project supervisors, who will provide necessary guidance to ensure you remain on track with your project.

6b. Outline Content

- The Research Process
- Adherence to ethical, legal and health and safety requirements
- Workshops (statistical analysis, study design, writing skills, data collection, academic writing skills)
- Supervised project time
- Undertaking major pieces of work, study skills and time management.
- Undertaking experimental and/or observational research.
- Construction of a research mini-dissertation
