LEARNING, TEACHING AND ASSESSMENT INFORMATION

6a. Module Description

This module builds on the histories, contexts, and theories introduced at Level 4, and is designed to enable you to build a framework in which to situate yourself and your developing practice as a critical, creative practitioner.

With the support of lectures, seminars, as well as independent reading and research, you will consider your work, as well as the work of other creative professionals, within broader historical, theoretical, and critically informed contexts. You will also start to engage with the ethical considerations and responsibilities that are increasingly urgent for professionals working in the creative industries today and begin to develop an increasingly detailed theoretical knowledge of your discipline.

You will explore and examine critical issues and debates within a variety of creative practices, through examples that address, complicate and problematise key topics which you will analyse in depth. The curriculum content is responsive, meaning that learning activities are open and flexible, and function in relationship to current events, discourses, and emerging debates.

6b. Outline Content

The following list of topics will inform your lectures, seminars, reading and assessment:

- Gender, Sexuality and Inclusive Communities
- Space and Place
- Taste and Class
- Sustainability and Ethics
- Decolonisation
- Performance and Performativity
- Craft and Creativity
- The Gaze, Display and Beauty
- Digital Technology and Social Media
- Authenticity and Authorship
