LEARNING, TEACHING AND ASSESSMENT INFORMATION

6a. Module Description

In this module you will develop core screen craft skills in Camera, Lighting, set construction and sound recording. You will gain knowledge and experience of good industry practice and we will introduce you to protocols and procedures that allow you to “up-scale” from smaller productions at level 4 to the graduation films at level 6 and beyond. You will also gain experience in Live Briefs and presenting to clients. You will learn through workshops, lectures, seminars, inductions, screenings and of course hands-on exercises. As your confidence builds on the technical skills you will explore the creative and aesthetic potential of cinematic storytelling (a combination of image, sound and editing).

You will complete a film on 16mm and will support other students in making their films. All students will provide peer to peer feedback throughout the module in order to further your skills in critically analysing and assessing these screen craft skills and in articulating visual storytelling principles. The module provides a basis for further study and practice in Cinematography, Editing and Sound. It also underpins the craft/technical skills and understanding of these practices needed by students who may then choose to focus on other disciplines such as Directing or Screenwriting or Producing.
